Description

Planet Waves Single Conductor HD Coax Finishing Wire 76.2m (250ft)

Save your time in cable installations with this easy to use Finishing Wire. Planet Waves coaxial cable is precision manufactured in the USA to 75 ohm HD standards. All cable features Planet Waves In=Outtrade; Technology for pure signal transparency.

Use it for all A/V applications. The same cable can be used for Component to Composite Video, Analog to Digital Audio, Subwoofers, even RF applications like HD Satellite and Cable TV. Planet Waves HD Finishing Wire is well suited for rack dressing or any other exposed drop between Audio / Video devices and display units such as visible projector runs. It is also UL rated for in-wall installations. With a soft TPE jacket, the HD Finishing Wire is especially flexible, making it easy to work within a rack or cabinet. The TPE also provides a clean, polished look and feel to give installations an elegant aesthetic. This cable is full bandwidth, broadcast-quality, with high impedance and low capacitance.
